WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

On behalf of the Royal Agricultural Society of Tasmania (RAST), I am pleased to invite members of the whisky and spirits industries to participate in the inaugural 2026 Royal Tasmanian Whisky & Spirits Awards.

The Awards have been long anticipated and provide an opportunity for some of the world's finest distillers to showcase their craft in front of a world class panel of judges. We hope they will bring together whiskies and spirits from across the globe while also providing an opportunity for new and exciting producers to benchmark their product against the world's best.

I would like to thank Mr Bill Lark AM, for agreeing to being the Patron of the Awards in their inaugural year and trust that Bill's esteemed involvement will indicate the level at which these Awards will be conducted at from the very beginning.

Our judges—carefully selected leaders from across the industry—play an essential role in ensuring fairness, integrity, and meaningful feedback. Trophies and medal artwork (gold, silver and bronze) are awarded to assist winners in promoting their achievements. Many past exhibitors have used this recognition to build a strong point of difference in the market, enhance consumer confidence, and unlock new opportunities.

We look forward to celebrating the year's achievements at the Whisky & Spirits Awards Dinner—an evening that will bring together producers, industry professionals, and supporters for a memorable night of networking and celebration.

I extend my sincere thanks to our sponsors, committee members, judges, volunteers, and, most importantly, to our exhibitors and look forward to watching the awards prosper into a world leading event on the calendar.

We wish you all the best in this year's competition.

Greg Melick AO RFD FANZCN KC
President, The Royal Agricultural Society of Tasmania

WELCOME FROM THE PATRON AND CHIEF JUDGES

Inaugural Patron of Judges - Bill Lark AM

Bill Lark (Member of the Order of Australia - AM, Whisky Hall of Fame) has graciously agreed to be the Patron of the inaugural annual Royal Tasmanian Whisky and Spirits Awards in 2026.

Bill's primary fame derives from his being integral to the lifting of the ban of small batch distillation in Australia that had been in effect for over 150 years, allowing him to establish Lark Distillery in Tasmania during the 1990s.

This in turn, triggered the re-birth of an entire industry. Bill has continued to earn his 'Godfather' of Australian Whisky reputation through an unselfish sharing of knowledge, founding of and representation at numerous awards and industry bodies and events, both domestic and abroad, and with a genuine affection to listen, talk and engage with all and sundry about whisky and spirits.

Chief Whisky Judge - Christopher Coates (Scotland)

Christopher Coates is an experienced whisky writer, editor, filmmaker, and judge whose work has placed him at the centre of major industry competitions and tastings. He has served as Chair of Judges for the World Whiskies Awards and Icons of Whisky, alongside roles as a blind taster and content specialist focused on whisky, cigars, and luxury travel.
Christopher has developed a clear appreciation for Tasmanian, Australian, and broader New World whisky during his 13-year career in whisky media, especially distilleries that are committed to distinctive spirit character. Christopher's interest in distinctive signature styles has led him to highlight Tasmanian producers in particular.

Chief Spirits Judge - Tash McGill (New Zealand)

Tash McGill is an internationally recognised spirits writer, strategy consultant and Editor of More Good Drinks, New Zealand's only dedicated consumer drinks publication. Her experience spans judging spirits and cocktail competitions locally and internationally, including Head Judge for the Super Spirits Awards and the NZ Spirits Awards, judge for the World Whisky Awards, Australian Distilled Spirits Awards, NZ Hospitality Awards, as well as cocktail competitions for Beam Suntory, Monin, World Class and more.
Tash's commitment to Australasian spirits is a long game, including a passion for Tasmania, the engine room of Australia's whisky renaissance.
She writes about Australasian spirits for international publications including Whisky Magazine, translating regional nuance for global readers while holding local producers to the same standards of provenance, process and philosophy that lift spirits around the world.
